Our insights help businesses to make data-backed strategic decisions. Algeria is practically swimming in sunshine—we're talking some of the highest solar irradiance levels you'll find anywhere on the planet (think 1,850-2,100 kWh/m²/year!). This immense potential has long been recognized, but only recently has the country begun to. Algeria has long limited the use of solar to villages in the Sahara, but two large-scale tenders for 3 GW of generation capacity are expected to change that. By including a local content clause, the North African nation aims to build an industry around renewable energy.
