

Is it reliable to rent photovoltaic panels for free now

Overview

While free solar panels may seem like a great deal, in almost every case we can think of, they aren't actually free. “I have never seen an advertisement offering free solar that is not a lie,” Neil Gallagher of Brighterway Solar, a solar installation company in Florida, told. When something is advertised as “free,” it usually comes with a few strings attached—free solar panels are no exception. Companies simply use this word to get your attention. What they really mean and whether these deals are right for your home – find out in our article. The federal government doesn't have programs for free solar installation, and it doesn't require companies to provide free solar panels. Most free solar panel offers are actually solar leases, power purchase agreements, $0 down financing — or sometimes. In this EcoWatch guide on 'free solar panels', you'll learn: This guide has helped thousands of homeowners to avoid getting taken advantage of when going solar and provided them with actual ways to save money. However, a solar installation's price tag of $15,000 or more can be intimidating.
